

Take two kitchens
*and prepare carefully with generous helpings
of individuality and timelessness.*

individuality

No two people are exactly the same. That's why just like an off-the-peg suit, a mass produced kitchen is always going to be a compromise, whatever the manufacturer tells you, and however good it may look in the showroom.

A hand-built kitchen, made from quality materials and customised precisely to your style of living and cooking is never going to be the cheapest option. But it will almost certainly represent the best value for money you can buy.

Scott & Gray make kitchens that are outstandingly beautiful. But just as importantly, they deliver an impeccable performance, providing a lifetime of service and pleasure for the individuals and families who use and enjoy them.

Our passion for quality informs every aspect of the service we provide. Inspired design and painstaking planning are supported by in-depth knowledge of beautiful, sustainably-sourced natural materials and the latest innovations in appliance technology.

We marry traditional craftsmanship and cabinetry skills to the best that 21st century technical advances can bring to the room at the heart of your home. And whether your ideas are traditional, period or high-tech, you'll find us happy to take up the challenge of bringing your own unique concept to beautiful, long-lasting life.

Unusually amongst designers, we spend as much time listening to our clients as we do talking. We don't impose stock solutions – instead, we invite you to lead the design team. Often, we can add inspirational, specialist ideas to enhance the concept, then our craftsmen will turn your vision into a unique reality.

And whilst the words chipboard and flat-pack will never be part of our vocabulary, we understand that at times we all need to work within a budget. We strive to realise each project at the best possible value for money for our clients.

We know that a new kitchen is a major investment, one that requires careful thought and much research.

We therefore would like to invite you to visit our workshop and inspect our portfolio, or speak directly to clients for whom we have completed projects recently.
