Keeping Our Supporters Informed

Wednesday evening President Barack Obama addressed Congress and nation in his first State of the Union Address. While given the opportunity to address and highlight those issues most relevant to blue collar working American, President Obama once again failed to connect with the concerns of the voters in the 6th district and showed just how out of touch he is with Main Street. Instead of encouraging Congress to listen to our calls for limited government, President Obama has proposed creating even more government agencies that meddle in our daily lives.

It is time we stop this continuous broken record and bring common sense representation to Washington D.C. We need representatives which address the issues that matter most to us; such as cutting taxes to stimulate real economic growth, reigning in regulatory agencies that are trying to justify their overinflated budgets and real healthcare reform that focuses on making coverage more affordable for Americans .

The time is now for us to take our

Emphasizing Job's and Economic Growth

President Obama finally decided to address the issue which has been on the minds of voters since his election, jobs, jobs, jobs. The status quo has been to throw more taxpayer money to federal programs with little private growth and hope that this works. On Wednesday, the President again called for another bill to fix the problems that two other bills have yet to resolve. We need to embrace legislation which will repair our economic situation by letting the private sector do what it does best; create jobs and put Americans back to work. My plan for the Economy is simple; cut taxes, reign in regulatory agencies and get our government out of the way of success. National Security, Not Partisan Politics

Despite recent attacks on our country and increasingly hostile threats from abroad our President, House Leadership and representatives have failed to address this most basic duty of government. On Wednesday our president had the opportunity to make it clear to those who would seek to harm us that such actions will not be tolerated; instead he opted for ignoring such opportunities in exchange for condemning current military policies. This country deserves better, America needs real representation which votes with our safety in mind. Read more about my plan for National Defense and Comprehensive Border Security
