A New Day

Yes, that's right, Katelin and I are expecting a baby in December! As of the writing of this newsletter, Katelin is about 10 weeks along. She has been experiencing some morning sickness, but it has not slowed her down too much.

We are currently looking into the prenatal and delivery options here in L'viv. We have several acquaintances, Ukrainian and American, that are helping us figure out the system and will be putting us in touch with doctors, etc. In the mean time, I'm learning lots of new pregnancy vocabulary, first in English, then in Ukrainian!

CMO

Our summer outreach, Carpathian Mountain Outreach, begins June 1st. At this point, there are 5 young men arriving from the States to work alongside us. To keep up with the CMO action, and to read the current eReport, sign up for the eReport at: <http://www.euroteamoutreach.org/index.php?p=ereport>

Ministry Update

Bible study has been going well. I (Nathan) recently finished teaching a series on some of the main stories of the Old Testament, focusing on the events that foreshadowed Christ's work on the cross. We will be continuing English club, but the Bible study will recess for the summer. CMO keeps us so busy that it is hard to adequately prepare teaching material, and our attendance tends to drop, due to college students returning home for the summer holidays and people going on extended vacations.
