Some parents will notice the price for the out-trips is considerably higher than in 2009. We have done a cost analysis on our trips and realized that while Chanco has not changed the price of the trips in a number of years the actual cost of these trips and programs has grown each year. We have now adjusted accordingly. This new price is very competitive with camps of the same size who offer trips much like ours. This new rate will allow for more program options for each trip as well as help provide better versions of the programs we already offer. We want each trip to have the most options while providing the best and safest programming possible.

Camp Chanco welcomes all campers and staff regardless of sex, race, religious creed, color, or national origin.
