

Covenants Not to Compete

Protecting your business ideas, services and products

In today's economy, companies must protect their business strategies and trade secrets. Companies also provide sophisticated training to employees. One of the most important tools companies can use to protect their confidential and proprietary information is the covenant not to compete. Learn how to use them to protect your business' competitive edge.

About our speakers

Rob Roby

Partner

Rob has developed a well rounded practice advising clients on all levels of civil litigation. Rob's litigation practice includes representing corporations and individuals in disputes concerning commercial and real estate contracts; professional liability for professionals in the insurance, medical and legal fields; intellectual property; and development of worker's injury benefit plans for corporations. Additionally, Mr. Roby has extensive experience assisting clients in the management of cases from the excess carrier level. Selected as a Thomson Reuters Texas Super Lawyer 2003 to 2009.

Lea Courington

Partner

In over 30 years as an active litigator, Lea Courington has handled a wide range of cases, ranging from antitrust, securities fraud, trademark, real estate, employment, business tort, and other types of commercial cases to libel and slander, products liability, toxic tort, and professional malpractice cases. Her experience includes both civil cases and the prosecution and defense of white-collar criminal matters. Many of the cases she has litigated have involved scientific, technical, technological, and medical issues, but she has also represented corporations, partnerships, and officers and directors in a variety of cases arising from complex financial and commercial transactions. Selected as a Thomson Reuters Texas Super Lawyer 2007 to 2009.

Jenifer Grace

Partner

Ms. Grace practices in the areas of commercial litigation, professional liability, and all aspects of post-judgment and appellate filings. Jenifer provides assistance to professionals in many industries. Ms. Grace is able to assist clients with efficiency and organizational experience with complex litigation, high volume discovery and document management. Jenifer's experience includes assisting clients with matters involving the sale of goods, contract negotiations and disputes, and products liability. She also assists insurance agents and financial planners with litigation concerning all aspects of their professions. Selected as a Thomson Reuters Texas Rising Star 2007, 2009 and 2010.

About CTT's Litigation Practice

Our litigators recognize that each dispute and each lawsuit is different, and we work with our clients to identify and understand the goals for each and to design and implement a cost-effective strategy to achieve those goals. Our collective years of experience in handling and trying cases enable us to evaluate cases early on and work with our clients to select the best means of resolution for each matter, whether through mediation, arbitration, settlement, or trial. When trial is the best means of resolving the dispute or lawsuit, our preparation is diligent and thorough, and we are tenacious and zealous advocates on behalf of our clients, both in the trial courts and in the appellate courts.

Curran Tomko Tarski LLP

We routinely represent large, established corporations; middle-market companies; family-owned businesses; private investors and start-ups. For our clients that do not have an in-house legal team, our firm often serves as the outside legal department. In this role, our attorneys provide advice and counsel on day-to-day business operations and risk management strategies.
