

QUARTERLY REVIEW

for Piano Teachers

- Reflection, Part 1*
1. Think about your business over the past quarter.
 2. If you're teaching piano, use your piano teaching business for this exercise. If you're not currently teaching, use any part of what you do to earn money: a non-music job, a church musician position, something entirely different, etc.
 3. List a minimum of 5 things that went well in your business this quarter. Be as specific as you can. The more deeply you reflect, and the more things you add to this list, the more clearly you will be able to see the bigger picture of your business.
 4. You may include anything related to your business. Students, tuition, schedule, commute, instruments, practicing (or not!), motivation, communication, piano parents, etc.
 5. When you complete this list, share it with a spouse or close friend and ask if they could add anything to your list that you may have overlooked. It is always helpful to have someone close to you review your list. That person can provide an additional perspective and illuminate your blind spots.

MELODY PAYNE
MUSIC FOR A LIFETIME

STEP BY STEP WORKBOOK

REFLECT ON THE PAST

- Review the things that are working in your business and the things that could improve.
- See clearly where your business is right now.

Reflection, Part 1

1. Think about your business over the past quarter.
2. If you're teaching piano, use your piano teaching business for this exercise. If you're not currently teaching, use any part of what you do to earn money: a non-music job, a church musician position, something entirely different, etc.
3. List a minimum of 5 things that went well in your business this quarter. Be as specific as you can. The more deeply you reflect, and the more things you add to this list, the more clearly you will be able to see the bigger picture of your business.
4. You may include anything related to your business. Students, tuition, schedule, commute, instruments, practicing (or not!), motivation, communication, piano parents, etc.
5. When you complete this list, share it with a spouse or close friend and ask if they could add anything to your list that you may have overlooked. It is always helpful to have someone close to you review your list. That person can provide an additional perspective and illuminate your blind spots.

SEE THE BIGGER PICTURE

- Understand where you are, where you want to go, and what you need to do to get there so you can create a solid path for the future.

Copyright © 2022 Melody Payne. All rights reserved. www.melodypayne.com

PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

- Learn how to implement your ideas into a unique plan that is best for you so you can move forward in your piano teaching business the RIGHT way.

THRIVE!

- After completing this reflection and planning exercise, implement your plan and watch your piano teaching business thrive!

PRINT OR DIGITAL

- Print this workbook and complete it by hand, or use it digitally on your iPad in an app such as GoodNotes.

