Mayor (former FPJ Official Candidate) supports GMA retention

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Braulio Yaranon expressed support for the retention of President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo saying the President’s culpability on the charges against her remains to be proven through an impeachment proceeding.

The mayor said that in his personal opinion as a lawyer, the President, apart from admitting to owning the voice in the infamous wiretapped conversation, did not make any other admission that can prove or disprove her guilt on the charges that she cheated to win in the last elections.

We believe that the Golden Rule applies to animals, too. We don't accept the prevailing notion that "people come first" or that "people are more important than animals." Animals feel pain and suffer just as we do, and it is almost always humans making animals suffer and not the other way around. Yet in spite of how cruelly people behave towards animals – not to mention human cruelty to other humans- we are supposed to believe that humans are superior to other animals. If people want to fancy themselves as being of greater moral worth than the other creatures on this earth, we should begin behaving better than they do, and not worse. Let's start treating everyone as we would like to be treated ourselves.

He said that if indeed there is a cause for people to believe that the President committed trickery then this should still be proven subject to due process of the law.

“There was no admission on cheating and fraud but if there is, this has to be proven and best way is through an impeachment proceeding,” the mayor said.

He said the people should not veer away from due process of the law and must always uphold the Constitution.

The mayor said his stand is his personal opinion and does not reflect the position of the entire officialdom of the city.

He however said that his stand is consistent with the position of the League of Cities of which most member provinces are also against the President’s resignation.

“Apparently, the call for the President’s resignation prevails only in Manila. I believe the opposition made by the Cagayan Valley against people power mirrors the feelings in the provinces,” he said.

He said that if at all the President really has to be ejected, it should be decided by the majority of the population and not only by the people of a certain area.

On the reported plans of other local government units to set up their own governments, the mayor said this need not happen.

“I am not in favor of division. Unity can be achieved if the people will abide by the rule of law,” he said. – aileen p. refuerzo

Task Force formed to promote OTOP Entrepreneurship Program

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Braulio Yaranon last week formed a task force to charge of implementing the One-Town-One-Product (OTOP), an entrepreneurship program in line with the Ten-Point Development Agenda of President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo.

OTOP is a priority program of the present administration that aims to promote entrepreneurship and create jobs.

The said program, according to the mayor, offers a comprehensive assistance package through convergence of services from local government units, national government agencies and the private sector.

“OTOP is a major vehicle to harness the city’s competitive advantage as a major ecotourism destination, greens and ornamental producers, prime education center and bastion of indigenous culture and knowledge,” the mayor noted.

As per the national directive relative to OTOP, the local chief executive has been tasked to take the lead in identifying, developing and promoting a specific product or service that has a competition advantage.

In his Administrative Order No. 95, the mayor formed a task force which he will co-chair with the head of the Dept. of Trade and Industry to serve as core group in the implementation of the OTOP.

It will be composed of executive assistant I of the city mayor’s office Trinidad Trinidad as convener and representatives from the offices of the city planning and development, city treasurer, barangay affairs, city social welfare and development, city council committee on market, trade and industry and Depts. of Science and Technology, Trade and Industry, Environment and Natural Resources, Tourism, Interior and Local Government, Technical Education and Skills Development Authority, Baguio Benguet Chamber of Commerce, Phil Export and Silver Craft Industry Association.

The task force will coordinate and gather support from the appropriate agencies and the private sector in the development of the identified priority product; monitor and evaluate the implementation of OTOP programs and provide assistance necessary in the development of the identified priority products. – aileen p. refuerzo

Mayor orders intensified waste collection

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Braulio Yaranon has ordered concerned offices here to intensify the collection of wastes in all barangays here even as he assured that the city will impose sanctions against residents who will not comply with the mandatory segregation policy.

The mayor in a memorandum directed city environment and parks management office acting head Josephine Chan and acting assistant head Nazita Banez to cause the immediate collection of all solid wastes whether segregated or not in all barangays in the city to avoid piling up of trash that can endanger the health of residents.

The mayor however asked residents not to be complacent in the segregation efforts to sustain the momentum gained in the implementation of the policy.

He said the city will also impose penalties on residents who will refuse to follow segregation rules subject to the kind of sanction the city will decide later on. But as of the moment, the thrust is to drum up people’s cooperation through continuing dialogues and information drive.

The waste segregation scheme, which was first implemented last May 18 as per Administrative Order No. 602 series of 2004 mandates barangays to group their wastes to biodegradable and non-biodegradable. The city originally intended to adopt a no-segregation-no-collection scheme.

However, many barangays are still not fully complying with the policy but health considerations compelled the city to collect even the unsegregated wastes.

The mayor said his office had been receiving numerous complaints on uncollected wastes in various barangays thus, the directive.

The mayor authorized the CEPMO to render overtime work to facilitate the waste collection.

“Likewise the matter of employing volunteer sorters deriving benefits from sorted our materials should also be considered,” he noted.

The CEPMO through Banez had earlier urged barangays here to adopt their own solid waste management system including penalties for violations through a barangay resolution.

This was among the guidelines being suggested by the CEPMO for adoption by the barangays to improve the waste segregation process.

Banez earlier asked the barangays to submit proposals on how they can implement their own waste management schemes including other strategies that can improve the present system.

City to tackle rampant illegal vending

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Braulio Yaranon has directed the Baguio City Market Authority under city treasurer Thelma Manaois to adopt strategies to curb illegal vending at the city market, the satellite market and the barangays here.

The mayor last Monday asked the market group to include in its next deliberation the concerns brought up by members of the Carindera Fish Section Association in relation to the proliferation of peddlers in undesignated areas at any time of the day to the detriment of legitimate vendors.

The association suggested several measures for consideration of the law implementers to regulate the practice which they said “prejudice the legitimate stallholders who pay their proper taxes.”

“One of the reasons why (our) sales have gone down is the proliferation of illegal peddling resulting (to) inaccessibility to the market stalls in the Fish Proper Section. Some legitimate stallholders even borrow money just to be able to meet the taxes and fees required because of poor sales (and yet these illegal vendors who are not paying taxes at all are allowed freely to compete with us),” they lamented.

They suggested the banning of traveling and transferee vendors from the Block 3 road deck, access road and vegetable vendors at the street between the shoe section and front of the Bagsakan Area of the Fish Proper Section to allow buyers to freely pass in going to the Fish Proper Section of the Carindera Building.

They said that there should also be no extension of stalls as this will block the passageways and violators should be punished with the cancellation of business permits.

“The illegal vendors and peddlers should be removed and warned from time to time by the designated market police force officers (who should) also respect or act on the complaints of the legitimate vendors. The demolition team and the police should always be visible to stop illegal activities and violations,” they said.

The mayor also referred to the market authority a similar complaint of stallowners at District I and XI satellite market in Gibraltar barangay who cried foul over the mushrooming of lowland vendors settling market items in the barangay during Sundays.

The vendors said the peddlers pose “undue competition as they are not burdened by the payment of taxes (and thus can offer their goods at lower costs).”

“Due to this undue competition, we incur heavy losses because our regular customers have opted to buy such goods (from) these illegal vendors,” they said.

“We have permit to operate business, we also pay our taxes due religiously... but if nothing will be done about this, how could be settle our obligations if we have no income due to this undue competition,” they lamented.

In another move, the mayor directed the Kagitingan barangay captain here to remove the vendors who were allowed to sell on streets in the said barangay.

“It has been brought to our attention that the Barangay has allowed fish, vegetable, fruits and other vendors to occupy portions of streets in your barangay. This is clearly in violation of the ordinances as well as national laws pertaining to roads and streets,” the mayor said in a directive coursed through the community affairs office.

The said matters will be tackled during the market authority’s next deliberations. – aileen p. refuerzo

Quality Service in local government may be awarded

BAGUIO CITY – Councilor Leandro Yangot Jr. recently proposed a resolution authorizing the grant of educational assistance to all local government employees in recognition of their contributions in providing quality service despite the government’s austerity measures and to help them cope with the rising cost of education.

He explains that Administrative Order (AO) No. 120 of the Office of the President dated 07 June 2005 authorized the grant of Educational Assistance (EA) as a one-time financial assistance to government personnel for Fiscal Year 2005.

And also adds that a DBM Budget Circular Numbered 2005-03 dated 08 June 2005 authorizes the grant of EA to personnel of the Local Government Units subject to the Personal Service Limitation under Section 325(a) of the Local Government Code of 1991.

The grant of educational assistance, Yangot says, will not only boost the morale of officials and employees, invigorating and enhancing their commitment and dedication to public service, but will also ease their financial burden particularly during this time of economic difficulty.

If the proposal is approved in the city council, copies of the resolution will be furnished the city treasurer, city budget officer and city accountant for their information and guidance and for the promulgation of the guidelines for the grant of the said financial assistance./ MGB

Defensor asked to investigate DENR scam

BAGUIO CITY – Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) Secretary Michael Defensor is asked to cancel the award of government lots to private applicants particularly those that were sequestered properties of former president Ferdinand Marcos and the road right of way along Harrison Road and to restore them to the city of Baguio.

Baguio is the rightful owner of these lots Yangot stressed.

Also in his proposed resolution to the Sangguniang Panlungsod, he cites Article 420 of the Civil Code of the Philippines providing that properties of public dominion are outside the commerce of men, hence, they cannot be sold, leased or otherwise be the subject matter of contracts.

Government lots located along Outlook Drive Barangay, particularly that where the sequestered mansion of the late former President Ferdinand E.

Marcos was built, and the road right-of-way along Harrison Road, were awarded by the DENR-CAR to private applicants allegedly after complying with all the requirements prescribed under the guidelines and policies provided under DENR Department Circular Nos. 3 and 1 series of 1988 and 1999.

This deplorable act of awarding government properties to private applicants contravenes existing laws and rules of the DENR, Yangot explained.

The City Government of Baguio hopes that the DENR Secretary shall cancel the said awards of government lots made by the DENR-CAR to the enterprising private applicants and restore the government properties to the rightful owner, the City Government of Baguio, he adds.

The councilor is also requesting Defensor to conduct an investigation on the said anomaly./ MGB

“At the moment, please be patient to implement the basic step of segregation in preparation for the higher level of activities as mandated by RA 9003. For barangays ready for the next step or with the establishment of MRFs, the proposal of barangays to collect their own garbage, please do continue. The city government wishes to commend you for a job well done!,” Banez noted in a letter distributed to barangays officials last week. – aileen p. refuerzo

Chinese Invasion of the 21st Century

Ever noticed how every single thing we buy cheap out there are marked or engraved with the words MADE IN CHINA?

Slippers, bags, kitchen utensils, school supplies, meat loaves, watches, DVD players, television sets, jewelries, cell phones, toys, everything our small money can buy are all made in that huge Asian country!

There must be this really humongous labor force working there because all these Chinese products are not only smuggled and sold in the Philippines but in every corner of the earth too.

They are in every street and sidewalk of the United States, Europe, Africa, Australia and flooding the streets of Hongkong, Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia, Japan and of course, here.

And well, Filipinos are totally into it.

We just love buying them because they are considerably cheaper than those tagged Made in the Philippines or those made in other countries.

After all, with the financial crisis every Filipino is facing now, we do need to save money and buy those which can save us some centavos more.

So what if the Instructions on the product are poorly spelled and written in wrong grammar?! And so what if these products doesn't even last a whole week, as long as its cheaper, it is definitely SOLD.

It had made the Filipino people fall under and become slaves to the Chinese Invasion of our country in this century.

Poor us, we cannot do anything but to comply.

And it seems we will forever fall under this China spell, but hey, we like it so we can't really complain.

After all it has now become the Filipino way of life. Love it or hate it, it's here to stay.

NUMERO DOS AS

NUMERO UNO

BY JUAN L. MERCADO

"The vice-presidency isn't worth a pitcher of warm spit", snorted John Nance Garner after serving as vice-president under the towering Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Vice-President Noli de Castro disagrees. He thinks his "spare-tire" role, provided by the Constitution, is the "pot o' gold at rainbow's end".

He has junked what comedian Will Rogers called "the best job in the country". All a vice-president "does every morning is ask: 'How's the President?'". Now, de Castro's trying to look – and sound – Numero Uno.

Numero Dos' new posture stems partly from former President Corazon Aquino's call for President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo to resign. "The country cannot continue in its present tumultuous state", Mrs. Aquino said.

Two constitutional paths remain open. One was the protracted impeachment process. The preferred second was voluntary resignation." It'd provide "a smooth transition to her constitutional successor, the vice president, and a swift return to normalcy".

Was that the "tipping point"? Mrs. Aquino's stature and calm measured tone welded other voices, calling for resignation: from the Ateneo de Manila staff to Makati Business Club and civic groups.

So were the resignations of Finance Secretary Cesar Purisima, Budget Secretary Emilia Boncodin and eight of the top 10 key cabinet secretaries of the Arroyo economic management team. These were those who oversaw the administration's increasingly-effective economic reforms. The resignations erode further her capacity to govern.

Aquino's call and cabinet resignation saw Estrada partisans mass. Their communist allies unfurl their stockpiled red banners at Ayala Avenue. This, at last, was the outburst of people's power they've tried to ignite. Once again, that fizzled.

A major cause was Jose Maria Sison's decision to ally his Maoist revolutionaries with the Erap group, seeking to grab power, Philippine Free Press Antonio Abaya wrote. This turned off the crucial middle class that always sparked people power.

Clarita Carlos, a University of the Philippines political scientist and Inquirer's Amando Doronila think that, in the hours ahead, Mrs. Arroyo's fate rests with the military and the influential Catholic Church.

"The military will not move until the people move," Carlos told Agence France Presse. "And the people will not move until the church tells them to." This could be indicated in the Catholic Bishops Conference state-

Recall Election and Impeachment Blues

A Mini-Survey

BY GRACE BANDOY

The alleged recall of the last elections in Baguio and the impeachment case served against our president GMA seem to be the apple of the eyes of a lot of us.

In Baguio, a thrown-out ex-political leader is reportedly gathering the needed number of signatures (at his own multimillion-peso expense) to de-seat our mayor.

And in the Philippines, I guess we all know what's going on.

But, what do some of you really think about all these hush hush?

Let us read some of the thoughts of our co-Baguio citizens...

Jerry, police officer – "If they think this move will ease the worsening political and fiscal crisis in our country and our city, why not?"

Conchita Depalag, housewife – "I think through due process, it will be settled peacefully because going out and joining rallies seem not proper anymore, it's just ruining the image of the Filipino."

RG, mediaman – "It depends on the purpose and intention, is it for our welfare? Is it political? Is it personal or otherwise?"

DL, mediaman – "I think it's all political bullshit!"

Jessie Gonzales, driver – "Kailangan siguro mag recall kasi parang wala naming nangyayari dito sa atin."

Malou, teacher – "They're just wasting their time, our government is in a chaotic situation, tapos magkakaroon din ng recall dito, I'm not in favor, let's give Yaranon a chance hindi naman siya nandaya."

Julie Bangcado, freelance writer and English teacher – "They say betrayal of public trust is the main reason for the recall, well, which politician didn't? Almost so-called "honorable" who ever took seat at a public office betrayed the people, so if there's a recall, show us an honest, blemish-less candidate who'll take charge."

R2C, construction company – "Gusto namin ng recall pero ayaw namin kay Vergara."

Bobong Ribaya, Nursing student – "I think I can just echo what mayor Yaranon said, that it's like a trip to a place but you're not reaching your destination. So I am convinced that the expedition is futile."

Mr. O, Barangay Captain – "I am in favor of the recall."

Joy, nurse – "I am not in favor of the recall."

Rizza Gacao, clerk – "The recall is just a waste of time and money, kahit sino ang umupong mayor meron at meron silang sasabihin."

oOo

natin ang isyu na yan? At sino-sino naman ang mga papalit, sino sino naman kung sakali ang magiging katungali ni The Great Mayor Y? Sino kaya, si Apo Vergara kaya, si Apo Domogan kaya, o si Apo Yangot? Masyado pang maaga para sa inyong lingkod ang mag bigay ng komentaryo kung nararapat nga bang bigyan pansin ang nasabing recall ni The Great Myor Y. Bagamat alam naman ninyo na hindi tayo taga paghanga ni Mayor Y, ngunit hindi na nga-nga hulugan na pabor tayo sa isang recall. At bakit ko ito nasabi, sapagkat baka naman ang papalit kay The Great Mayor Y ay mas –mahina pa sa kanya?

ment that may be released as this column goes to press. "This would set off a domino effect that could precipitate the collapse of the regime," writes Doronila.

"The tectonic plates have shifted," said Bukidnon's Representative Nereus Acosta. "They'll not return to their original shape. The question is, can we avoid a tsunami?"

As change looms, the Vice-President is discovering, he has more "friends" than he realized. There are the usual favor-savengers. Some just leap-frogged from the Palace.

But improbable "new buddies" have turned up. "We're open to Noli," Bayan Muna national vice chair Manuel Loste said in Baguio. The Reds never disregarded the Constitution, he said. They even "helped promote (the charter) during the 1986 and 2001 People Power revolutions".

Is that the new party line? And do they check their facts? The present constitution didn't exist in 1986. It was drafted after the Esda Revolt where the communists huddled in safe houses.

An overwhelming 81 percent of voters cast their ballots in the 2 February 1987 ratification vote; and 76 percent voted for to approve. A constitution, it is said, only "formalizes the moral consensus that people have already reached".

This historical record notwithstanding, Bayan Muna and party-list comrades insisted that the constitution be scrapped; that "a revolutionary government" (a Maoist dictatorship) be installed. That'd require De Castro to quit too – a call Estrada backers led by Senator Aquilino Pimentel repeat.

Have the comrades belatedly discovered the constitutional rule on succession? They've they never had popular backing. So, they've tried to hijack middle class support. Is this tacit recognition that opposition to constitutional tampering is insurmountable - for now?

But the scent of potential trouble is thick. Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo retains support in the provinces. She's not quitting. No controversial president gives up immunity freely. Look at where Erap is today.

The New People's Army mutters about Romanian Nicolae Ceausescu style of execution. Don't take that lightly. A survivor of the Plaza Miranda bombing, Senator Jovito Salonga feels Jose Ma Sison staged that gruesome massacre. A similar high-profile killing now could trigger mayhem.

"Make no mistake about it," Inquirer columnist Manuel Quezon III writes. "Neither the militant Left, nor the Estrada forces, nor even military adventurers feel bound by (the constitution)." That's a scrap of paper, as far as they're concerned.

Senators Franklin Drilon and Manuel Villar deny they are now jockeying for the Numero Dos post. "The vice presidency is like the last cookie on the plate," writer Bill Vaughan once said. "Everybody insists he won't take it. But somebody always does." (E-mail : juan_mmercado@pacific.net.ph)

The Choices That We Make

BY FREDDIE J. FARES

Hi everybody, I'm not exactly back in the column writing business, much as I like to, no time for it. Perhaps I would be sharing with you some inspirational stuff for the mean time. The text below was sent to me by my brother.

READ THIS. LET IT REALLY SINK IN. THEN CHOOSE.

John is the kind of guy you love to hate. He is always in a good mood and always has something positive to say. When someone would ask him how he was doing, he would reply, "If I were any better, I would be twins!"

He was a natural motivator.

If an employee was having a bad day, John was there telling the employee how to look on the positive side of the situation.

Seeing this style really made me curious, so one day I went up and asked him "I don't get it! You can't be a positive person all of the time.

How do you do it?"

He replied, "Each morning I wake up and say to myself, you have two choices today. You can choose to be in a good mood or ... you can choose to be in a bad mood. I choose to be in a good mood."

Each time something bad happens, I can choose to be a victim or...I can choose to learn from it. I choose to learn from it.

Every time someone comes to me complaining, I can choose to accept their complaining or... I can point out the positive side of life. I choose the positive side of life.

"Yeah, right, it's not that easy," I protested.

"Yes, it is," he said. "Life is all about choices. When you cut away all the junk, every situation is a choice. You choose how you react to situations. You choose how people affect your mood.

You choose to be in a good mood or bad mood. The bottom line: It's your choice how you live your life."

I reflected on what he said. Soon hereafter, I left the Tower Industry to start my own business. We lost touch, but I often thought about him when I made a choice about life instead of reacting to it.

Several years later, I heard that he was involved in a serious accident, falling some 60 feet from a communications tower.

After 18 hours of surgery and weeks of intensive care, he was released from the hospital with rods placed in his back.

I saw him about six months after the accident.

When I asked him how he was, he replied, "If I were any better, I'd be twins. Wanna see my scars?"

I declined to see his wounds, but I did ask him what had gone through his mind as the accident took place.

"The first thing that went through my mind was the well-being of my soon-to-be born daughter," he replied. "Then, as I lay on the ground, I remembered that I had two choices: I could choose to live or...I could choose to die. I chose to live."

"Weren't you scared? Did you lose consciousness?" I asked

He continued, "...the paramedics were great. They kept telling me I was going to be fine. But when they wheeled me into the ER and I saw the expressions on the faces of the doctors and nurses, I got really scared. In their eyes, I read 'he's a dead man'. I knew I needed to take action."

"What did you do?" I asked.

"Well, there was a big burly nurse shouting questions at me," said John. "She asked if I was allergic to anything. 'Yes, I replied.' The doctors and nurses stopped working as they waited for my reply. I took a deep breath and yelled, 'Gravity'."

Over their laughter, I told them, "I am choosing to live. Operate on me as if I am alive, not dead."

He lived, thanks to the skill of his doctors, but also because of his amazing attitude.. I learned from him that every day we have the choice to live fully.

Attitude, after all, is everything.

Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own." Matthew 6:34.

After all today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday.

God Bless, and smile, it could be contagious.

RESPONDE NG ATING MGA PULIS MABAGAL, MGA DUWAG NA TEXTERS, WALANG TAKUTAN, atbp.

BY RUDY "BANTAY SIYASAT" GARCIA

RESPONDE NG PULISYA MABAGAL! Mukha yatang nagiging pagong kung rumesponde ngayon ang ating mga pulis, at bakit kanyo? Basahin po ninyo.....

Noong Hulyo 10, 2005 mga alas dos ng hapon ay nakatanggap ang inyong lingkod ng mensahe o text mula sa aking kasamang kolumnista na si Odell Aquino o mas kilala sa tawag na Bombito (medyo mas malaki ang katawan at mas mataas po siya ng konti sa akin, he!he!).

Na meron daw nadiskubre itong si Bombito (talagang itong si Bombito, oo kahit saan ginagalugad) at ibang residente sa Hamada Subdivision na isang sako na may laman sa loob at korteng nakabaluktot na tao at umaalingasaw daw ang amoy, at nakalagay ito sa may bangketa ng Hamada Subdivision Rd.

Nang dumating ako sa nabanggit na lugar siguro mga trenta minutos mula ng magtext itong si Bombitz, ay nakita ko ang subject, at ang nandoon ay ang Kapitan ng Barangay at mga miron, ngunti wala kahit isang pulis na ayon ay itinawag na raw nila!

Makalipas ng sampung minuto, minabuti ng inyong lingkod na pumunta sa presinto uno upang ifollow-up nga itong naturang insidente. Take note na halos kuwarenta minutos na ang nakalipas ngunit wala pang responde! (nauna pang dumating ang aming kaibigan na tinawag mula pa sa Camp 7).

At por Dios pagdating ko sa presinto eh ano ang nakita ko? Ano pa nanonood ng basketball sa tv ang mga pulis na dapat eh nasa lugar na rerespondehan.

Nagpalusot naman ang mga ito (mga pulis) na itinawag na raw at nandoon na sa lugar ang mobile ng siyete, pero nang kinontak ko si Bombitz ay wala pa naman daw dumaringat.

Itinawag ngayon sa radyo at pagkatapos ay sinabi ng mga pulis na on the way na raw ang mobile.

Mula sa presinto uno (Cooyeesan Plaza) ay naglakad ang inyong lingkod hanggang Hamada Subdivision en guess what? Kahit anino ng isang pulis ay wala pang dumating, buti kanyo at naglakas loob na pakialaman at binuksan nga ni Kapitan ng Barangay ang sako at napagalaman na ang laman pala ay patay na aso!

Tapos na ang eksena nang dumating itong mga pulis at kung susumain mahigit isang oras bago dumating ang responde, "Patay na ang kabayo bago dumating ang damo"! Pweeeh!....

Paano kaya kung nagkataon na bomba pala ang laman ng sako, patay kang Kapitan ka, at sigurado na marami ang napahamak bago dumating ang mga inaasahan nating mga taga pagligtas!

Ang tanong, pagkatapos ng nasaksihan naming pagresponde ng ating pulisya, maaasahan nyo pa ba na tatawagan namin ang mga naturan para kaagad rumesponde?, tungkaaaa.....

KUDOS KAY COUNCILOR GALO WEYGAN, at mga kasamahan mula sa iba't ibang mga sangay ng lokal na pamahalaan na nag inspeksyon sa mga establimento dito sa Lungsod noong Biyernes Hulyo 8, 2005 at inabot po sila hanggang madaling araw sa pagtatrabaho.

Bunsod na rin sa nasabing inspeksyon, marami sa ating mga establimento ang natuklasan na wala palang business permit, ganun din na karamihan sa kanilang mga tauhan ay walang working permit.

Marami rin silang nalambat na mga menor de edad sa loob ng establimento lalo na sa inuman at sa alanganing oras pa man din!

Sana naman ay hindi ito "ningas kugon" lang at kung pwede ay tuloy-tuloy ang kanilang pagmamanman at pagkilos at kung maaari ay ipasara na itong mga establimentong lantaran at patuloy na sumusuway sa ating batas lokal o ordinansa.!

Sumusuporta po ang kolumn na ito sa naging aksyon ng ating lokal na Pamahalaan at syempre gusto kong ipaabot ang aking komendasyon kay Councilor Weygan, Public Office and Safety Division (POSD), City Health Office, DSWD, BCPO, at iba pang operatiba na sumama at sumuporta sa naturang operasyon.

Bow po ako sa inyo at sana "Always keep up the good work" Ciao!

MGA DUWAKANG NA TEXTERS, huwag nyo kaming takutin, at dati na kaming takot, kumbaga manhid na kami sa dami ng mga pananakot na aming natatanggap, almusal, tanghalian, hapunan pati panghimagas namin puros "Death threats"!

Imbes na magtago ang mga duwakang na ito sa pundilyo ng kanilang mga cellphone, bakit hindi nalang nila ibigay sa amin ang kanilang panig, dahil sila naman ay aming papakingan, huwag naman nila kaming takutin at hindi naman kami ipinanganak kahapon!

Katulad na lang itong pananakot na ginagawa ng iba sa kasama naming kolumnista sa pahayagang ito na si Odell "Bombito" Aquino, biruin nyo na halos araw-araw na lang na nakatanggap ng "Death Threats" sa kanyang cellphone itong si Bombitz at take note na pinapamili pa siya kung ano ang gusto nyang ipatumba sa kanya, kalibre 22, 38, 45, 9mm at shotgun. Eh sutil din itong si Bombitz at tinanong kung pwede na lang ay "Bazooka" (aray ikaw talaga Bombitz, sa liit mong yan karne norte ang labas mo!)

At take note pa, nag-import pa raw ang mga lekat na duwakang ng mga "hired killers" mula pa sa La Union para likidahan itong si Bombitz na ayon ay nanghahanting na raw!

Wow, hebigat talaga itong si pareng Bombitz at imported pa ang kanyang magiging "terminator"!

At sino at sinu-sino kaya ang (mga) nasa likod ng mga death threats? Siyempre sino pa kundi iyong nasa puwesto at may otoriti na nabanatan ng husto ni pareng Bombito!

Kayo dear readers, sino o sino sino sila? Op kors, your guess is as good as ours, at wala ng iba kundi si apo lakay "D" great at ang family en supporters, pweeeh siya... Pati sila pweeeh!

DISGUSTO KAY "D GREAT MAYOR" DUMARAMI!

Yes mga readers, habang sinusulat naming ito ay patuloy ang mga mensahe na natatanggap po ng inyong lingkod at karamihan ay mga reaksiyon at opinion ng mga ito sa kasalukuyang pamamalakat ng ating local na pamunuan dito sa lungsod ng Baguio.

Karamihan ay mga negosyante na naapektuhan sa hindi magandang pamumuno umano ng ating mayor. Pumangalawa ay mga empleyadong naapektuhan sa nabanggit na epekto ng mga establimento na karamihan ay may mga klosyur orders na galing mismo sa ating mayor!

Mga hinagpis at hinaing nila kumbakit wala na raw ginawa itong ating meyor kundi ipasara ang mga establimento na hindi man lang daw magbigay ng anumang konsiderasyon!

Marami raw sa mga ito ay iniipit ang kanilang mga lisensya sa City Hall kaya't hanggang ngayon ay wala pa silang mga business permit, katulad na lang diyan sa may rooftop ng Maharlika!

"Eatery lang na lisensya ay ayaw pang mag-isyu, at ang gusto nila ay basta na lang kami ipasara"! Eto po ang eksaktong binitiwang salita ng nagbigay ng mensahe!" Nagiging diktador at ugaling komunista, mga walang awa, buti pa sila sumusuweldo, paano naman kami, anong ipapakain namin sa aming pamilya kung isasara nila ang pinagtrabahuan namin"! Dagdag nila!

Andoon din ang mensahe nila na sila raw ay sasali sa isang rally sa People's Park, Sabado, Hulyo 16, 2005 alas diyas ng umaga na isang recall for the mayor movement rally, para raw ipakita ang kanilang disgusto at pagkadismaya sa ating mayor!

O ano po ang masasabi ninyo dito kagalanggalang na meyor! Mukha yatang marami na ang hindi kumporme sa inyong pamumuno. Honorable po ang tawag sa inyo, hindi kaya maganda kung ang "exit" ninyo ay honorable din?. Nagtatanong lang po!

Sa susunod, mga katakataka, kahinahinala, kagimbal gimbal, at karimarimarim na transaksyon ng ating mga mahiklerong opisyal ng ating gobyerno lokal...Ibulbulgar po ng i n y o n g lingkod,...Abangan....At sigurado ko na ma pweeh pweeh rin kayo...sa kanila.

Dignity in the urban landscape

Che Velasco-Alberto, undoubtedly the healthiest in the staff of the Sanidad-Villanueva law office along Baguio's main street, last week got swamped with text messages from joggers and fitness buffs like her.

"They were asking me if I know you after they read your piece last Sunday, whatever it was about, while I was in Manila," Che told me. The attention I got gave me the chance to ask her to convince the "wagwag" leather shop fronting the office to give me a discount on a pair of cowboy boots.

I also got a call from Mr. Resty Refuerzo of the local biking club. He wanted to know if former Mayor Enrique Penalosa, the urban reformer I wrote about in the column, has ever been to the Philippines. He said urban planners and decision-makers should take time to listen to this innovative, creative and fearless leader of the Third World.

There is a growing interest in the urban model that Dr. Penalosa conceived and implemented for Bogota, Colombia which he served as a one-term mayor from 1998 to 2001. His urban model runs counter to the traditional grain of urban planning in Third World cities where vehicle highways are the obvious benchmarks of development, at the expense of walkways, bike lanes and parks.

In a way Dr. Penalosa, with his Kenny Rogers salt-and-pepper hair and beard, brought to real life Edward Woodward's clean-shaven role the TV series "The Equalizer". While other city administrators are restricting mobility of those who have to commute for the sake of car owners, he made the urban space more accessible to those who can only ride public transport, pedal a bike or simply walk.

Penalosa saw equal and common access to public space as a key to preserving the dignity of his constituents, majority of whom are poor. He built some of the longest pedestrian and bicycle ways in the world to make them comfortable, if not happy, notwithstanding the grip of poverty. He made them feel that they, like anybody else, belong to and are proud of their city.

To the chagrin of car owners, he banned them from parking in bike and pedestrian walkways. Worse, he neglected the vehicle ways, given the lack of budget for infrastructure. He declined a foreign grant for the construction of superhighways and instead invested in parks, hospitals, schools and libraries. At the risk of getting impeached, he initiated car-less days and had 40 percent of cars off the road during rush hours.

Aside from walking or biking, car owners were given an alternative to having their Pajeros and Land Cruisers depreciate prematurely on the rugged road: take the bus and sit beside lesser mortals in a highly efficient and affordable public transport system he also built. He walked his talk by traveling on foot or pedaling his way to work in his executive necktie.

"When cars appeared, we should have started to build a parallel network – one for cars and the other exclusively for pedestrians (and bikers)," he stressed before delegates of the "Life in the Urban Landscape" international conference that he keynoted early last month in Gothenburg, Sweden.

"For 5,000 years, all city streets were pedestrians," he reminded the delegates. He added that throughout history, there were more people killed by cars than eaten by wolves. .

Dr. Penalosa anchored his fight for equal access to public space, "whatever our (economic) hierarchies", on his concern for child welfare. He saw many kids abandoned because of poverty. He came up with a model for "a city where children are more important than cars".

"How far should a child live from a park? Are there standards?," he asked. He rued that a former administration deemed a park unimportant and gave it away for a football field.

"We bought lands (for parks, walkways and bicycle lanes) even if we did not have money," he admitted. "We are all pedestrians; we need to walk, not in order to survive, but to be happy."

"When I was elected mayor of Bogota and got to city hall, I was handed a transportation study that said the most important thing the city could do was to build an elevated highway at a cost of $600 million.

Instead, we installed a bus system that carries 700,000 people a day at a cost of $300 million."

As we already noted in the previous piece, Bogota's rapid bus system is world class. Its 250-kilometer bicycle lane network is the largest in Latin America. Its 17-kilometer pedestrian-only street is the world's longest. Include to those distinctions the hundreds of kilometers of sidewalks that connect even the poorest neighborhoods.

During his term, 52 new schools were built, three major libraries and 11 small ones were established. These were aside from nurseries and 1,000 parks that were built or rebuilt.

Dr. Penalosa believes that in a shopping mall, one feels alienated. "In a public library (or park), he or she feels welcome and respected."

His contributions resulted in the reduction of crime, air pollution and better traffic flow in Bogota, which, at 2,620 meters above sea level, is one of the highest cities in the world. His work to preserve the integrity of the public space heightened the sense of community among its 6.9 residents. It made them proud of a city they used to hate.

Thanks to a grant from the Swedish International Development Agency and the organizers of the Gothenburg conference, I had the chance to hear and cheer this innovative urban reformer with a heart for the poor. Dr. Penalosa, recently a visiting scholar of New York University, studied economics and history at Duke University and finished his doctorate in management and public administration at the University of Paris. Mayor directs fast-tracking of infra projects to address backlog BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Braulio Yaranon directed concerned offices here to fast-track the implementation of priority infrastructure projects in the city to lessen the city's backlog in said aspect.

In a memorandum, the mayor directed city engineer Leo Bernardez, city building official Oscar Flores, city planning and development officer Art Orig and city general services officer Romeo Concio to facilitate as soon as possible the bidding, award and prosecution of development projects currently in the pipeline.

"You are hereby directed to take appropriate action to come up with a list of the projects to be implemented and how far you have gone in preparing the required documents for the bidding and awards of these projects. The call for bids must be done the soonest, if possible within one week," the mayor noted.

During the department heads' meeting last Monday, the assistant city engineer Elpidio Garaviles reported that in compliance with the mayor's order, the department has scheduled 59 projects for bidding on July 26. He said three projects are also up for implementation.

The city recently conducted the 3rd People's Visioning and Planning Congress to fine tune strategies to address backlogs in the city's developmental thrusts in preparation for the formulation of the city's Medium-Term Development Plan for the years 2005-2009.

During preparations for the congress, the mayor acknowledged that the city has many backlogs in terms of implementation of projects.

He said that only 25 percent of the projects included in the MTDP were accomplished while 75 percent remain unimplemented. Until now the city is still implementing projects supposed to have been implemented in year 2001.

The output of the congress will be submitted to the City Development Council for appropriate action before the preparation of the budget for 2006.

The local development council will then formulate the city development plan for submission to the city council for confirmation before the same can be implemented. – aileen p. refuerzo

Sisterhood council eyes deeper ties

The city has started refocusing its sisterhood ties with foreign and local counterparts to give more substance to twinning agreements beyond the opportunity for exchange visits among officials and prominent citizens.

Members of the local chapter of the Philippine Sisterhood Twinning Association last Wednesday agreed to review existing pacts and those yet to be inked so that concrete mutual benefits can be realized by the signatory cities through the program.

"As far as I'm concerned, no concrete moves have been taken (on the part of the city towards realizing the purposes of the program)," noted Aurora Bautista who represents the cultural sector in the chapter.

Specifically, she cited the offer of Vallejo, Baguio's sister-city in California, to pursue a student exchange program, and that of Hangzhou in the People's Republic of China to help Baguio in its flower garden project.

"There was no move on our part (to pursue the projects) except to socialize," Bautista pointed out, somehow expressing the observation of some of the members.

autista added that a liaison officer be assigned for each of the sister-localities to follow up and keep track of the developments in the implementation of the provisions of the agreements.

She suggested that a liaison officer be designated for each of the agreements to ensure the implementation of the provisions are pursued.

Vice-mayor Reinaldo Bautista Jr. agreed, saying provisions of the agreements, such as cultural, educational and technical cooperation, should be pursued to keep alive the spirit of the program.

The chapter likewise noted the need to tap local civic groups which have been instrumental in initiating sisterhood ties through their counterparts abroad in keeping alive the spirit of the agreements.

City councilor and chapter co-chair Pinky Chan-Rondez said the chapter will adopt the points raised as key policies in future agreements, including four that the chapter agreed to endorse for approval by the city council.

Rondez added that she will also file a policy ordinance based on guidelines of the international sisterhood association and the recommendations of the chapter members.

Endorsed for approval by the city council through proposed resolutions by Rondez were twinning tie-ups with the cities of Karuizawa in Japan, Taitung in Taiwan and Taebaek in Korea and the town of Pavia in Iloilo.

Lions Club members of Karuizawa recently visited Baguio on invitation of the Lions Club of Downtown Baguio to offer a fire truck to the city and explore a sisterhood tie-up.

A 10-member student cultural dance troupe is set to visit and perform in Taitung next month, while Taebaek, a popular mountain resort, has also offered to ink a tie-up with Baguio.

The town council of Pavia, which, according to vice-mayor Bautista, hosted the city delegation in a national sports competition, recently transmitted a resolution offering sisterhood with Baguio.

So far, the city over the years inked twinning pacts with 22 cities abroad and 15 local cities and towns.

Sister-cities abroad are Whitehorse (1984) and Vaughan (1996) in Canada; Chicago (1993), Honolulu (1995), St. Louis Park-Minnesota (1996), Denver (1969), Oxnard (88) and Vallejo (1993) in the US; Caernarvon (1975) in the United Kingdom; Mainz (1978) in Germany; Wakkanai (1973) and Hanyu (1979) in Japan; Ulsan (2001) and Seoul (1981) in Korea, Mt. Hagen (2000) in Papua New Guinea; Palmerston North (1991) in New Zealand; Darebin-Victoria (1997) and Shepparton (1987) in Australia; Hangzhou (1993) in China; Cuzco (1984) in Peru; Kislovodsk (1985) in the former Soviet Union; and Staffanstorp (1997) in Sweden.

Sister-localities in the Philippines are Gattaran (1988) in Cagayan, Dipaculao (1999) in Aurora, Daet (2002) in Camarines Norte, Lucena City (1996), Lopez (1993) in Quezon, Munoz (2003) in Nueva Ecija, Angeles (2000), Calbayog City (1993), Ormoc (2002) in Leyte, Mandaue (1993), Bacolod (1996), San Carlos (1984) in Negros Occidental, Davao (1984), Marawi (1993), and Zamboanga (1993). — Ramon Dacawi.
