Earth Day is celebrated on _____ 22nd every year. Earth Day celebration was in 1970 and each year the celebrations get better. As people became more and more dependent on industry, not how much damage the pollution was doing to the _____.

In the book, Silent Spring by Rachel Carson in 1962, the world pollution actually was. People were able to read startling facts about between pollution and living organisms. Not just people were being pollution that could be seen and smelled in the air, water, and soil _____ as well. The book is a New York Times bestseller and quickly sold 500,000 copies in 24 countries. It raised awareness of the effects of pollution and people began wondering what could be done.

In January of 1969, another event fueled anti-pollution sentiment. A massive _____ spill in Santa Barbara, California. The spill was destructive and destroyed much of the natural habitats off the coast of California. Clean-up was a huge effort and brought awareness of the deterioration prompted by air and water pollution.
