

WAR OF 1812

ESCAPE ROOM

a struggle between the United States and Great Britain. It was a war of Independence" in many aspects. Great Britain and the United States fought the war with one another and both sides tried to prevent the other from capturing the other for supplies, food and weapons needed in the war. The British used Canadian militia (volunteers) because British forces were limited in Europe. The British Navy restricted (limited or restricted) the United States from trading with Napoleon in Europe. The British Navy used a practice called impressment on the United States. They also used a practice called press its crew into service. At a ship could capture another and press its crew into service. The British Navy taking US ships, that meant they were forced to fight in their war against France. The United States didn't think that James Madison was President at this time. American military leaders were William Henry Harrison, and Winfield Scott. Great Britain...

WAR OF 1812

The War of 1812 was a struggle between the United States and Great Britain. It is also known as “the second war of Independence” in many ways. France were locked into war with one another and both sides were looking for supplies, food and other resources. Most of the British forces were Canadian militia (volunteers) who were already fighting Napoleon in Europe. The British Navy was also fighting the US trade, but they also used a practice called impressment. Impressment meant that a ship could capture another ship.
