

PATRIOTS AND LOYALISTS

DIGITAL ESCAPE™

6 PASSAGES

A photograph of a laptop on a wooden desk. The laptop screen shows a historical kitchen scene with a curved wooden ceiling, a shelf with copper pots, and a wooden table. A white text box is overlaid on the screen, containing two paragraphs of text. The text box has a close button (X) and a share button in the top right corner.

The Revolutionary War was fought between the 13 Colonies (an area under control of another country) and Great Britain. Although many different events led to it, Britain taxing the colonists after the French and Indian War (fought against New France for America's control) fueled the war. The colonists believed it was unfair to be taxed when they had no say in Parliament (British government), while Britain thought it was only right since the war was for them.

With these differing views came two groups of people; the Patriots and the Loyalists. Colonists had to decide which group they would be joining, if either. They had to decide whether they wanted to break away from British rule or remain British citizens.
