Jamestown was founded in 1607 and was the first permanent English settlement of North America. It was also the capital of the colony of Virginia for more than 80 years.

King James I financed an expedition to establish a new colony in North America. In 1606, he granted the Virginia Company a charter (written permission) to explore and find settlement in the 'New World'.

The Virginia Company was backed by private investors who expected a return on their investment. They expected to find gold in the New World. They also had hopes of making money by growing things in the new colony that they could ship back to England.

On December 20, 1606, they set sail on three ships called the Susan Constant, Godspeed, and the Discovery. After traveling across the Atlantic Ocean for four months, and stopping in Puerto Rico for food and water, they landed in Virginia on April 26, 1607.
