

BOSTON MASSACRE

DIGITAL ESCAPE™

6 PASSAGES

One of the factors that led to the American Revolution was the debt (money owed) of the French and Indian War. The French and Indian War (1754 to 1763) was fought by the colonists against New France for control of America. Each side had Native American allies and the colonists also had Britain's help. Britain sent troops to the colonies to help them fight the French. Every war costs money, and Britain needed the money to help pay for the troops and supplies. British troops were also stationed in the colonies after the war for protection. The British felt justified in taxing the colonists to pay for the expensive war because the colonists benefitted the most. The colonists did not think the taxes were fair. They began the rally cry motto "no taxation without representation," which meant they should not be taxed without having a say in the British Parliament (government).
