“We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.”

The Preamble to the United States Constitution is a short, one-sentence introduction. It states the beliefs, principles and goals of the U.S. Constitution and the framework of the government. By beginning with “We the People,” the Founding Fathers showed that the new country was united for the people. The Preamble was placed in the Constitution during the last days of the Constitutional Convention.
