6 PASSAGES

Students will read 6 short passages about the topic, then answer questions.

The Senate, also known as the "upper house," has 100 members with each state having two Senators. The House of Representatives, also known as the "lower house," has 435 members but the number of representatives per state is based on population. The people who make the laws are called Legislators. There are different election processes and qualifications for each house. Article I of the Constitution outlines the requirements to be a Senator. A Senator must be at least 30 years old. They must be a U.S. citizen for at least nine years and live in the state they represent. Article 1 also outlines the requirements to be a Representative. The person must be 25 years old. They must be a U.S. citizen for the last seven years. They also must live in the state that they hope to represent.
