The Persian Wars occurred from 492 BC to 449 BC between the Persians and Greeks. The huge Persian Empire stretched from Turkey all the way to the ancient Indus River. It controlled the Middle East after the Babylonian Empire collapsed. Led by Darius the Great, Persians first conquered the Median Empire in 550 BC followed by Lydia and Babylonia. Later, Persian rule extended to Mesopotamia, Egypt, Israel, and Turkey. Greeks, at the time, sent messengers to some of their city-states. Persia did not like the Greeks stopping at outposts in their territory, so they sent warriors to stop the Greeks. The battles of Marathon and Thermopylae resulted in wins for Greece. Xeres, the Persian king, was angry about the losses. He changed his mission from conquering the Greeks to wiping them out.
